

Transportation and logistics is a $43 billion industry encompassing shipping, freight, warehousing, distribution, and more. This sector relies heavily on efficient documentation and record-keeping processes. From bills of lading and shipping manifests to delivery receipts and inventory forms, business forms play a pivotal role in ensuring smooth operations and regulatory compliance. Because of the unique nature of the transportation and logistics sector, distributors can often help customers develop custom forms, increasing the profitability of these products.

At Wise, we specialize in forms for the transportation and logistics sector, including custom forms for specialized applications and needs. Contact us at one of our four forms manufacturing plants to find out how we can help you stay ahead in this high-profit market.
